

Polycrystalline silicon solar panel 270 watts

Overview

A 270-watt polycrystalline solar panel is a popular photovoltaic solution known for its balance of cost, efficiency, and durability. These panels are constructed from multiple silicon crystals melted together, giving them a distinctive blue, speckled appearance.

*System voltage Max 1000VDC *High cell efficiency PV solar panel with quality silicon material for long term output stability and reliability * Unique frame design with high mechanical strength for easy Installation Standard Test Conditions STC:1000W/Wm², spectrum AM1.5 and cell temperature 25°C. Strong aluminum frame manufactured to withstand a heavier snow load and high wind pressures, passing a snow load of 5400Pa. 270 Watt Polycrystalline Solar Panel Production Introduction Pls check below information to know more about our 270 watt polycrystalline solar panel.
